The Brand

TAIBO BACAR is a brand known for its fusion of high fashion and ready to wear, created in 2008 by the designer Taibo Bacar. Today Taibo Bacar is considered one of the leading brands in Africa. It is determined, delicate and classic, it's an instantaneous burst of wholesome energy for all women who identify themselves with eclectic style where the silhouette plays a central role. A brand that emphasizes the feminine body using only selected cutting techniques and the highest grade of materials material choice, making every Taibo Bacar woman a unique being that is envied, respected and adored.

In the African fashion industry Taibo Bacar is considered a solid and sustainable pillar for the forthcoming years. The brand has won many international awards since its inception and was the first African brand to showcase at Milan Fashion Week. It is a brand that is slowly conquering the world, always remaining faithful to its roots and forever valuing the timeless products designed in Mozambique & Africa.

Taibo Bacar was born in Mozambique in 1985. The son of a seamstress, Bacar grew up around the sounds of sewing machines, fabrics and the design sketches that he drew for some of his mother's clients. One day he decided to take a chance and follow his childhood passion, leaving the world of business and heading to Spain to take a course in design and pattern cutting.

At that time there was no fashion industry training available in Mozambique. Despite not following any particular method for his design process, Bacar has always fabrics and the image of a very feminine woman as main elements. In 2012 taibo bacar won the price of emerging designer of the year - Africa.
